Budapest-Capital Primary and Secondary Hospital School is 80 years old

Budapest-Capital Primary and Secondary Hospital School, educating children while receiving long-term hospital treatment, celebrated its 80th anniversary of its existence, and was given a certificate of merit by the North-Budapest School district. After greeting the guests started the event with a concert given by the students of the school entertaining the audience with pieces composed in different genres for the occasion. Katalin Novák, Minister of State for Family and Youth Affairs took part in the event.

Introduction

Our school is intended to educate children receiving long-term medical treatment. It was founded by Count János Zichy in 1937.

Our stress releasing teaching-treating work prevents our students from falling behind with their studies and also from having to repeat the school year. Ill children's right for education must not be curtailed. Since its foundation Budapest-Capital Hospital School aims to make the time spent by the children at hospital beside treatments meaningful, and helps them bear the environment more easily. In addition to providing good quality education to our students, we also release children's anxiety, reduce harms caused by hospitalization and primarily maintain our students' active thinking. In 13 medical institutions we teach our students individually. In each hospital there is a teacher teaching young children, one for humanities and one for real subjects.

Our principles and aims

Pedagogical principles:

- Education tailored to the patients' state
- To help children get to know themselves and learn about their skills

Developing skills individually

- Humanist values

Hospital schooling aims to prevent children receiving long-term hospital treatment from falling behind as much as it is possible.

Our work is limited by our children's condition, the frequency of medical treatments and the inconveniences caused by the treatments.

- We aim to educate our students academically, morally and emotionally according to the values defined by our school-eternal human values.
- We aim to enable our students to continue their school studies.
- We aim to help our students develop their personality, help them have enough discipline and be strong-willed in learning and in every field of life.
- Our aim is to help our students to become creative people who accept their limits and perform up to the maximum of their skills.

Our education

- Professionalism and quality work
- Level tests
- Exam preparation
- Reduce hospitalization
- Teaching cooperation and tolerance
- Teaching self-discipline and endurance
- Teaching active and creative lifestyle
- Development of personality and teaching positive attitude
- Palliative pedagogy

Quality Assurance

Our quality policy enables us as a unique institution to do high quality work in spite of our difficulties given from our special situation.

We regard catching-up and empathy our priorities. We aim to catch up our students struggling with learning difficulties, which we carry out efficiently by releasing the students' tension and during our teaching-treating work.

We consider it important to treat our students carefully teaching them with love and empathy.

The requirements we impose on ourselves are: being well-prepared, reliable, flexible, careful and empathetic.

Our perspectives: Being aware that educating ill children needs responsibility we do everything than we can to work under the best circumstances with the best teachers professionally. We try to give over the knowledge and experience our present staff have gathered to the next generation of teachers.
